Is there something outside that reconnects me back to my inner heart ?
What I see is all the trouble and the density of pain and nothing brings me back - to who I truly am

But when I face your soulful eyes without a word
I remember who I am and where I'm truly from

Let's change the vibration let your fire burn be the reflection of our return

You light up the light you are on fire
You lift me up - we stop the fight
You are like a mountain you are the rock
Our wings are made to fly we'll break the lie

Now there is no more reason to keep the old
Forgo to be controlled in the darkness in the cold Ignite the flame inside and the song of your heart to hear for everyone your divinity is pure since day one now it is time to let it shine

Let your power occur
Let's raise the vibration set the bar
As we become one we live like one nation

You light up the light you are on fire
You lift me up - we stop the fight
You are like a mountain you are the rock
Our wings are made to fly we'll break the lie

Embrace the heavens around you
Claim what comes through and fill the space
Be a living spark of the oneness and live in that grace

We light up the light we are on fire
We lift you up - we stop the fight
We are like a mountain we are the rock
Our wings are made to fly we'll break the lie

Now let us change the game - no more return to past
Can we make the divine in all of us for ever last
